DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 13-20 have been withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected method, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 11/15/2005.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claims 1 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Klug (U.S. 6,663,807B2).-(us 2002/0167109)
2. Regarding claim 1, Klug teaches a material of variable impregnated flexible graphite having variable resin concentration across the width of the sheet (column 13 line 35-38). The flexible graphite sheet is embossed on both of its major surfaces along the variable resin impregnation, giving the sheet improved molding characteristics (figure 8, column 13; 14 line 35-40; 1-10).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 3-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Klug.

5. Klug, discussed above, is silent as to the presents of linear or non-linear variation of resin concentration across the thickness of the graphite sheet.

6. However, Klug does teach complex variations (column 1 line 37-42) in the resin concentration, which would render obvious both linear, and non-linear variations in resin concentration through the thickness of the sheet to a person of ordinary skill in the art.

7. Claims 6 and 8-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Klug in view of Mercuri (U.S. 6,605,379) or Norley (U.S. 6,777,086B2).

8. Klug, discussed above, is silent as to the use of a laminate of multiple sheets of resin impregnated flexible graphite.

9. Mercuri teaches an embossed composite of resin-impregnated graphite flakes laminated together (10) between a polymer layer (550) (figure 5, and column 11 line 5-7, 50-68). The product is an electrode for a fuel cell (abstract and figure 5).

10. Norley teaches that stacked laminates of resin impregnated graphite sheets have unexpectedly good mechanical and thermal properties as well as good machinability (column 3 line 60-68).

Art Unit: 1775

11. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Klug with the teachings of Mercuri or Norley in order to create an electrode for a fuel cell or to achieve unexpectedly good mechanical and thermal properties as well as good machinability.

Response to Arguments

12. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 2-6, and 7-12 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

13. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Conclusion

Cited but not relied upon is Chung (U.S. 4,946,892) that teaches composite graphite disposed in a solid matrix (abstract).
